1. For the restoration of the synthetic gasoline plant in Dwory, the USSR has donated to Poland the equipment looted from another former German factory in Schwarzheide. The original equipment of the Dwory factory was also confiscated by the Soviet Army and installed in one of the Soviet plants before the USSR decided to promote the development of chemical production in the Heydebreck-Dwory district.
2. The Heydebreck plant regained a large part of its original equipment "evacuated" to the USSR as this had not yet been installed in any Soviet factory and was temporarily stored in Berdyczow. All the blue-prints and documents of the German factory in Heydebreck were handed over to the Poles by East Germany on the demand of the COMECON.
